Course Description	Music from antiquity to 1600.
Course Overview	MUSI 231 is a multimedia survey course exploring the history and development of musical thought and practice in Europe during the Middle Ages and Renaissance, and the socio-historical contexts that helped shape them. Class discussions will center on a survey of significant genres, styles, composers, and works.
Course Learning Outcomes	In addition to providing students with an in-depth look at a fascinating period which gave rise to many of western music's most enduring traditions, this course will introduce students to the concepts, criteria and methods pertaining to the study of music history. In-class analyses of works will offer students a means of tracing and evaluating significant changes in musical trends. Lectures, class discussions, readings, and assignments will encourage the development of an appropriate musical vocabulary and provide a forum for intelligent discussion. A research workshop and group presentation will introduce students to fundamental research techniques and correct bibliographic skills.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY, PLAGIARISM	The University of Calgary is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are referred to the section on plagiarism in the University Calendar (ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k-2.html) and are reminded that plagiarism-- Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it—is an extremely serious academic offence. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university. You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. This includes assignments submitted in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media, and material taken from such sources. Please consult your instructor or the Student Success Centre (TFDL 3rd Floor) if you have any questions regarding how to document sources.
