Course Description:

SCPA499 provides students with an introductory level understanding of interdisciplinary principles, strategies and tools for exchange and collaboration in interarts and interdisciplinary contexts. In addition to introductory conceptual knowledge and exposure to a wide range of case study examples, students will be offered practical approaches to interdisciplinary creation and interpretation, as well as opportunities to explore these approaches individually and with peers from all three divisions of the SCPA.

Course Learning Objectives:

- 1) Explore theories, concepts, and approaches possible through interdisciplinary collaboration.
- 2) Discover how current understandings of interdisciplinarity relate and apply to performing arts.
- 3) Investigate practical strategies and tools for creation and interpretation in interdisciplinary performance contexts.
- 4) Develop effective skills for creative collaboration across disciplinary boundaries.
- 5) Articulate interdisciplinary performance practice through writing and vocal presentation.

Course Schedule: A detailed course schedule will be provided in class and maintained on D2L.

Learning Resources: Students will be responsible for weekly readings and/or viewings. All resources will be posted on the course D2L site and will be accessed via the Taylor Family Digital Library (library.ucalgary.ca) or publicly available online.

Assessment Components:

- 1) Class Participation: 15% of overall grade
 All students are expected to attend all classes, arrive on time and fully prepared (having completed all assigned readings and/or viewings), and participate actively in all sections of each class. Cellphones should be turned off upon entering the class and remain out of sight during class unless they are directly employed in an assigned group activity. Criteria for assessment will include attendance, demonstrated preparation, active participation, collaboration, creativity and respectful exchange. Attendance will be tracked throughout the semester and will serve as one measure of class participation.
Note: given the importance of this aspect of the course, students for whom active in-class participation is difficult or impossible should identify themselves to the instructors within the first 2 weeks of classes.
- 2) Written Reflections on 3 or more Performance Works: 15% of overall grade (5% each)
 All students are required to view three assigned performances during the semester and write a brief (250 word) reflection on each. Due to COVID-19 restrictions, performances will be selected by the instructors and will be available online for students to view on their own time. Each work will focus primarily on one of the three key disciplines. Analysis of the performance should emphasize the primary discipline featured. In addition, describe ways in which the work has been enhanced through interdisciplinary engagement.

Students may also write one additional reflection for extra credit at the same assignment value per reflection. Live performance reflections must be accompanied by the related ticket stub (unless other arrangements are made with the instructor). If a student wishes to view an online interdisciplinary performance, they must provide a clear argument explaining why they consider the work to be interdisciplinary, and include the URL to the work in their reflection.

Please note that in the case of a live performance event, it is the responsibility of each student to plan, book, and (where applicable) pay for their tickets and for their transportation to and from each performance venue.

3) Interdisciplinary Creative Exploration: 30% of overall grade

Each student will individually explore the steps of a creative process using interdisciplinary approaches to further enrich their work in their own discipline. For this assignment, students will look to a discipline other than their own program of study and choose an element or elements from that discipline to bring into their work in their primary discipline. (1500 words maximum)

4) Collaborative Creation and Presentation: 40% of overall grade

All students will participate in a collaborative project/presentation with class members from all three SCPA divisions, demonstrating the application of interdisciplinary collaboration principles and strategies explored in the course. The group presentation will be accompanied by an individually-authored and graded report, detailing group member contributions and process documentation.

Note: detailed descriptions of evaluation items #2, #3, and #4, above, will be distributed in hard copy and posted to D2L.
